Life skills are defined as a set of psychosocial competence and personal skills that help people make carefully big decisions, communicate effectively with others, developing skills with surrounding circumstances, and manage oneself that leads to progress and success.

Necessary life skills vary by a person's age and culture and society.

WHAT ARE LIFE SKILLS?

The importance of having life skills in a person's life lies in his ability to adapt to all circumstances and succeed in the renaissance and prosperity of society.

One of the most important problems that demand quick attention and solutions these days is the lack of skills for the new generation.

This is because there is a lack of life skills in the output of educational institutions. As a result, many fail in their careers and personal lives due to the absence of these skills they must have.

Life skills education helps students build confidence in both communication and cooperative and collaborative skills, provide them with tools important for development, find new ways of thinking and problem-solving and provide methods on how to socialize, make new friends and recognize the impact of their actions and behaviors.

Life skills also help students take action in situations where their parents or teachers may not be available and make themselves take responsibility for what they do instead of blaming others.

IMPORTANCE OF LIFE SKILLS EDUCATION

Self-Awareness Skills

Self-awareness skill is the ability of the individual to be aware of the emotions that afflict him, identify one's own performance and behavior correctly and respond to various social situations appropriately. Self-awareness skill also helps a person to know what he feels, as well as understand the behavior and feelings of others and use his knowledge to make successful and sound decisions.

Empathy and Sympathy Skills

EMPATHY skill is the person's ability to accurately put himself in someone else's place - to understand the other's feelings, perceptions, and circumstances from their point of view - and to be able to react appropriately to the situation and to communicate that understanding back to the other person.

SYMPATHY skill is the person's ability to show a sense of compassion, commiseration or appreciation for another person and to deal with others' emotional reactions.

10 ESSENTIAL LIFE SKILLS EVERYONE SHOULD LEARN

Problem-Solving Skills

Problem-solving skills refer to the individual's ability to identify and define a problem, generate alternative solutions, evaluate and select the best option, implement the selected option and solve problems effectively and efficiently without any hindrance.

Decision-Making Skills

Decision-making skills can be defined as the ability of the individual to identify and pass a specific judgment on a situation he was exposed to and choose alternatives based on the values, beliefs, and preferences among the various alternatives to him.

The decision-making process provides a final choice, which may or may not indicate action.

Decision-making skills help to develop problem-solving skills in the following ways:

Controlling inner sensations, feelings, behavior, and action, as the individual has the ability to make the right decision.

Making the right decision is a success for oneself and is the product of continuous thinking that develops the individual the ability to make decisions.

Not being influenced by external pressures when making a decision, no matter how great the changes are and how strong the external impact is. The inner feeling must be full of positivity and that opportunities still exist to achieve the goals set.

A person must be clear in decision-making, and he must know what he wants, otherwise, he will not get what he seeks.

Thinking Skills

Thinking skills are defined as the mental activities of an individual that he uses to process information, draw conclusions from experiences, build relationships, solve problems, make decisions, ask questions, and create new ideas or organize information. It is worth noting that thinking is not as a description of one thing, but rather a process of existing information about a particular thing to arrive at something else, and this is called critical thinking.

Communication skills

One of the most important life skills, anyone can develop is the skill of communication in a clear and confident way in front of others.

Communication skills are the abilities a person uses when providing and receiving different types of information.

Communication skills reflect many benefits for the person, as he is more comfortable while making ideas and he is more confident in himself, in addition to attracting people to him.

~~People who are good at talking to others can be creative in many businesses, specifically those related to developing different products, in addition to being able to present ideas and ideologies and influence others through them.~~

Communication skills require continuous training like all other life skills.

Interpersonal Relationship Skills

Interpersonal skills, or what some refer to as interaction skills, social skills or social competence; are the life skills that a person uses daily to interact and communicate with others, individually and in groups. This skill is characterized by the ability to be learned by all people, regardless of their educational levels or their personality differences.

Interpersonal skills include traits like self-confidence, active listening, critical thinking, communication skills, leadership, and delegation.

Accepting Criticism: A Life Skill

The skill of accepting criticism is the ability of a person to accept constructive criticisms for improvement. Accepting criticism is an important skill in a person's life. It can be difficult for some people to accept criticism from others, but it is important to leave out emotional and sensitive feelings. If one accepts criticism and focuses on the reason for the criticism, one can use it to improve himself and change his strategies to become better.

Time Management Skills

Time management is one of the most important skills for a person, specifically for those who have a lot of tasks and things to accomplish. Care must be taken on the most important tasks. Master this skill, which is a commitment to doing one task at a time, as multitasking leads to a person being distracted and thus wasting time.

Stress Management Skills

Stress management skills are defined as the ability that puts one in charge and gives him a sense of control, so it is the ability to control emotions, feelings, and anger toward others. Psychological pressures are defined as a set of external factors that affect an individual, in whole or in part, or affect the integrity of his personality. Stress and fatigue lead to physical weakness in humans, so you must have the ability to relax to get rid of any stress or fatigue that may be exposed to. Stress management techniques help boost self-esteem, reduce stress, depression, and anxiety, and improve the overall quality of life. Stress management skills are essential for a person to be healthy and strong.

Conclusion

skills depend on a large part of our experiences and how we can transfer this experience to new generations, in order to learn, preach and provide additional information to their knowledge.

now we are facing a rapid change boom and a massive revolution in the field of science and technology, which widens the gap between parents and children, especially with regard to learning and transferring experience to them, and achieving the maximum benefit.

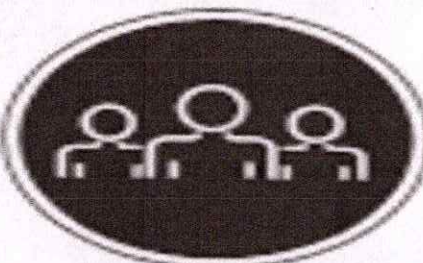

It is necessary for parents to experience the pressures faced by children and young people. They should not put additional pressure on them and not be surprised by their behaviors that may not coincide with their values, but rather they must understand the technical development of a modern time in which they live and coexist.

Parents should understand the pressures and challenges the children are going through, and find common solutions.

Problem Solving and Decision Making Skills

-Report-

Department of English, Dr. Babasaheb Ambedkar College, Aundh, and Pune, Organized One day workshop on Problem Solving and Decision Making Skills on Wednesday, 05 January 2021 at 12 to 1.00 pm in TYBA Classroom. Mr. Chandrakant Borude has arranged this session which has been received good response from the students. The workshop embarked by introduction of students. Every student has come forward and introduced themselves confidently.

Problem-solving and decision-making are important skills for business and life. Problem-solving often involves decision-making, and decision making is especially important for management and leadership. There are processes and techniques to improve decision making and the quality of decisions. Decision making is more natural to certain personalities, so these people should focus more on improving the quality of their decisions. People that are less natural decision-makers are often able to make quality assessments, but then need to be more decisive in acting upon the assessments made.

Problem-solving and decision making are closely linked, and each requires creativity in identifying and developing options, for which the brainstorming technique is particularly useful. So this was the main intention behind organising this workshop.

One Day Workshop on Introducing Yourself Others

Saturday, 08 Jan. 2022

-Report-

Department of English, Dr. Babasaheb Ambedkar College, Aundh, and Pune, Organized One day workshop on Introducing Yourself and Others on 8th Jan 2022 at 10:40 am in SYBA Classroom. Mr. Chandrakant Borude has arranged this session which has been received good response from the students. The workshop embarked by introduction of students. Every student has come forward and introduced themselves confidently.

It's human nature to judge, both consciously and unconsciously. As much as we like to believe that we are in complete control of our thoughts, we all make snap assessments of others in a matter of seconds. People are categorized as friend or foe based on the instinctual impulses deep in our reptilian brains. Rational thought only comes into play later; the first impression is a gut reaction. Recognizing the immediacy of these judgments can help you create a good first impression and a lasting reputation.

Whether you are meeting someone in an Interview or online at your local coffee shop, it's important to know how to introduce yourself to set the right tone for your conversation and control your first impression. So This was the main intention behind organising this workshop.

Following Topics have been covered-

- How to introduce yourself confidently
- How powerful introduction changes ones perception
- Self Confidence is the main key
- How you can make impression by Powerful introduction

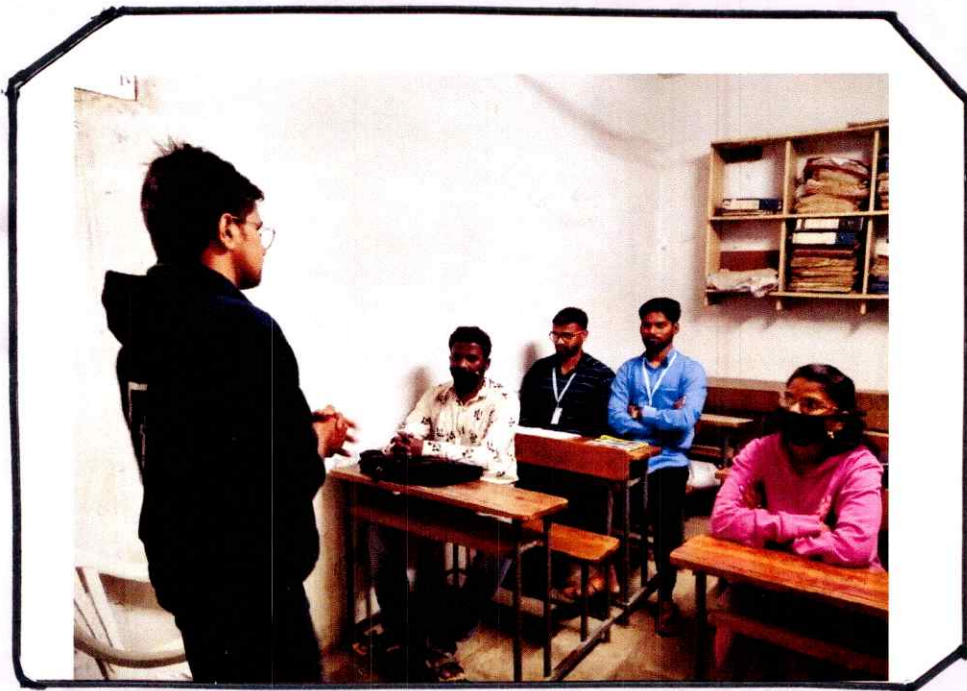

Introducing yourself to others.
